Dear The Federal Communications Commission,

I do not want to pay more for my telephone service! I respectfully urge you to reject a flat fee proposal that would change how contributions are made to the Universal Service Fund. This proposal will make my current service unaffordable.

Under the flat fee proposal you are considering, people who make few long distance calls would pay the same as people or businesses that make many calls and this is not fair to me. In other words, low-volume and primarily residential customers would bear the same universal service fund burden as a high-volume residential or business customers.

I use my wireless phone for safety, security and convenience, and I am only a student in high school. I already have to pay for my own service and cannot afford higher prices. I don't want to lose these benefits so that big businesses can pay less than their fair share- they CAN afford to pay their own plus. I urge you to reject the proposal to move the USF collection system to a flat-fee.

Keep the USF Fair!

Sincerely,
